

Rongai Route - 6 Days Trek

Duration: 6 Days | Price: $0.00

Overview

Rongai route 6 days trek is the best, this route is termed to be the second easiest route for climbing Kilimanjaro after Marangu. Trekking via this route one can choose between the two starting points, the Tanzania side of the Kenya side. The Rongai route is the only route that approaches the summit of Kilimanjaro Africa from the northeast & has a wonderful wilderness setting. Upon request short days of Tanzania safari can be added after the climb, please let us know your wishes.

The route has fewer crowds than other routes and is recommended for people who don't want a huge number of climbers in one route. The Rongai route is only for ascending and its end merges with the Marangu route which is for both ascending & descending. The route is endowed with a lot of caves, which partly serves as overnight accommodation.

Less crowded because of its remote location the route offers trekkers a unique wilderness experience where it is possible to see large wildlife like antelope, elephants, and buffalo. As there is typically less moisture on this side of the mountain you are less likely to encounter rain and have more unclouded views of the peak. While it is flatter, it does not give the climb high sleep low option and is therefore recommended to select more days for acclimatization.

The Rongai route is one of the easier routes up Kilimanjaro. Rongai is the only route to approach Kilimanjaro from the north and the descent is via the Marangu Route. Summit night from Kibo Hut is steep and follows the same path taken by the Marangu route which passes Gilman's Point to Uhuru Peak.

Itinerary

Day 1

Moshi (1,400 m) – Rongai Gate (1950 m) – 1st Caves Camp (2,600 m)

Trekking time: 4 hours

Distance: approx. 8 km

Vegetation type: Montane Forest

The starting point of your Kilimanjaro trekking Rongai Route is at Park Gate of Marangu, then you will have transport to the Rongai trail ahead (1,950 m). Normally, the transport is of about 3 hours to the Rongai gate. If time allows, a packed lunch can be taken at Nelemoru. This trail takes you along the cypress plantations and montane forest. You can possibly spot some colobus monkeys.

The path is ending at the 1st Cave camp (2,600 m) and it is gradually allowing you to enjoy the surroundings. Porters & cooks are moving faster so at the time you reach the camp you will find them waiting and already build up your tents. They might have even prepared popcorn for you and something hot to drink. At the camp, you will get hot water to wash then change the clothes you have been trekking with, and stay warm. Enjoy the camp environment while waiting for dinner time. At night Mountain temperature may drop to a freezing point, be prepared.

Accommodation: Caves Camp (2,600 m)

Day 2

Caves Camp (2,600 m) – Kikelelwa Cave (3,600 m)

Trekking time: 6 to 7 hours

Distance: 9 km

Vegetation type: Moorlands

From the 1st Caves Camp start your day with a light breakfast, then you will arrive at the moorland vegetation type enclosed in the heather. This trail will lead you towards the second Cave Camp (3,450 m), the place where you will have lunch. After lunch and some rest you carry on up to the third Cave Campsite (3,600 m), (Kikelelwa Cave) the alternative name. 6 Days of trekking is the best as it gives enough time for acclimatization.

By the time you reach the Kikelelwa Cave, porters will have already prepared a tent for you, hot water to wash & coffee/tea, and snacks (same procedure as per previous day). The camp is surrounded by a bunch of small caves in a valley a bit below the saddle. After dinner, you will go to sleep and get prepared for the crazy cold at night.

Accommodation: Kikelelwa Cave also known as the 3rd Cave (3,600 m).

Day 3

Kikelelwa Cave (3,600 m) – Mawenzi Tarn camp (4,330 m)

Trekking time: 3 to 4 hours

Distance: approx. 6 km

Vegetation type: Moorland

Light breakfast before starting your 3rd day at Kikelelwa cave. Start your hiking day on an easy and moderate slope, you will notice changes in the landscape and the pass now is becoming steeper and soon you will reach Mawenzi Tarn Camp at the altitude of 4,330 m.

This is a very remarkable campsite as it is in a hollow beneath the sharp peak of Mawenzi which is close to a small lake. Arriving at the camp same procedures will follow as on previous days, soon hot lunch will be served followed by some relaxing hours. You can use this afternoon for resting and exploring the areas around the campsite.

You can have some walks to a number of ridges and towers in this area which will possibly offer a stunning view of Kibo. For great acclimatization and for amazing views of Mawenzi this is the right place. Enjoy the magnificent sunset from your campsite then dinner and overnight.

Accommodation: Mawenzi Tarn Camp (4,330 m)

Day 4

Mawenzi Tarn Camp (4,330 m) – Kibo Hut (4,700 m)

Trekking time: 4 to 5 hours

Distance: approx. 9 km

Vegetation type: Alpine desert

After a light breakfast, you will start your today's program by hiking over a small ridge before having an easy walk on a nice path that is on the northern part of the saddle. With a good weather view around this area is wonderful. The vegetation type that will dominate today's walking is an alpine desert furnishing with some hardy grasses and occasionally everlasting flowers.

At this juncture, the Rongai route will adjoin the Marangu route when reaching the saddle in-between Mawenzi and Kibo. The pass to the summit at this point is the same as from the Marangu route. The final part of today's hike that leads to Kibo hut is steeper. Reach Kibo hut at 4,700 m during lunchtime. Hot water to wash & other procedures will follow, get enough rest and some acclimatization and be ready for the final part of your Kilimanjaro trekking Rongai route for 6 days.

On this day dinner will be served early but before or after dinner your guide will give you a detailed briefing of your final push to the summit. Go to bed early & try to get enough sleep as this is your big night at Kilimanjaro but before bed, you should have prepared everything needed for your final ascent. Things needed for your final attempt to the summit are thermal clothing, a ski stick, and a thermal flask for water, don't forget to put in and replace your headlamp and batteries. (the guide will remind you during the briefing).

Accommodation: Kibo Hut (4,700 m).

Day 5

Summit Attempt. Kibo Hut (4,700 m) – Uhuru Peak (5,895 m) – Horombo Hut (3,720 m) Kibo Hut (4,700 m) to Uhuru Peak (5,895 m) to Horombo Hut (3,720 m)

Trekking time: About 8 hours to Uhuru and 6 hours to Horombo

Vegetation type: Stone scree / ice-cap summit

Distance: approx. 6 km ascent and 21 km descent

On the summit day on Rongai Route, the wake-up time will be around 23:00 to 23:30. Have some biscuits and tea before you start, you will firstly hike through a very rough path with rocky passing Williams Point at an altitude of 5,000 m, Hans Meyer Cave at 5,150 m and Gillman's Point at an altitude of 5,681 m situated on the crater rim.

To reach Hans Mayer Cave from Kibo hut you will need almost two and a half hours. Gillman's Point is not that far from Hans Meyers Cave, it is a distance of about an hour. To reach the summit from Gillman's Point is about 1.5 hours walking distance.

The remaining climbing is normally covered with snow and walking is along the rim of the crater all the way to Uhuru Peak. On the way to Uhuru Peak, you will pass Stella Point stands at an altitude of 5,752 m; this point is where the other routes reach the rim. Now you are almost at the summit but might be very challenging. Congratulation you have made it to the roof of Africa via the Rongai route with 6 days of tough hiking.

At Uhuru Peak you should not expect to spend much time, a few minutes will be enough at such an altitude, so you may expect to take some pictures before starting your way down. Now is the time for the descent back to Kibo hut 4,700 where your lunch is to be served. From Kibo hut, you need about 3 hours to reach Horombo hut 3,720 m. Arriving at the camp in the afternoon, get hot water followed by coffee/tea with snacks, Change clothes & have a deep breath while relaxing and waiting for dinner.

Accommodation: Horombo Camp in Luxurious beds

Day 6

Horombo Hut (3,720 m) – Marangu gate (1,980 m) – Moshi or Arusha

Trekking time: 6 hours

Distance: approx. 27 km

Vegetation type: low alpine zone and Montana forest

After a heavy breakfast at Horombo hut, your last day at Kilimanjaro will then start. Passing Mandara hut at an altitude of 2,700 on your way down to Marangu gate, here you will have a short break for lunch then proceed down to Marangu gate at (1,980 m)

At Marangu gate, you will sign some of your details into a register book and you will be provided with a summit certificate, a green color certificate for those who reached Gillman's Point, and a gold certificate (Big Diploma) for Uhuru Peak. Celebrations, singing & dancing including farewell & tipping sessions for the crew can be at Horombo hut in the morning or here when receiving the certificate. At the time you reach the gate your driver will have already arrived and waiting to take you back to your hotel possibly for a long overdue hot shower before dinner & overnight.
